MAYORALTY FIGHT
IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, September 13.—City voters will decide tomorrow whether Mayor Martin Behrman will add another four-year term, to his record of 13 years of service as city executive. Mayor Behrman is opposed by Andrew J. McShane, Tanner, head of a ticket chosen by the Orleans Democratic association.

The city fight overshadowed the state campaign in which there will be nominated a United States senator and eight congressmen.

Martin Behrman, according to local authorities, holds the record among the larger cities for continuity in office, having been mayor for sixteen years and his organization in power for twenty. Mayor Benbrook, of Natchez, Miss., with 32 years of continuous service, is said to be Behrman's only rival. The mayor's salary here is $10,000 a year, with $2.400 expense account.

All three of the local newspapers, one of which for 20 years has actively supported the organization headed by Behrman, have conducted aggressive campaigns for McShane.

In the senatorial přimary, Donel-son Caffery, New Orleans; J. Y. Sanders, Bogalusa, and E. S. Broussard, New Iberia, are candidates for the seat now held by E. J. Gay.

W. P. Martin, Thibodeaux; Riley J. Wilson, Harrisonburg, and Ladislao Lazaro, Washington, congressmen respectively for the Third, Fifth and Seventh districts, are unopposed for re-election.

In the First district the incumbent, James O'Connor, is opposed by Albert Estopinal. Both are New Orleans residents. In the second Henry G. Dupre is opposed by M. L. Gosserand and M. P. Finnegan. John T. Watkins and John M. Sanders, both of Minden, seek the nomination in the Fourth. Amos L. Ponder, in the Eighth the incumbent, J. B. Aswell, has as his opponent Gaston L. Pouterrie, of Marksville.

GASES ARE USED IN FIGHT WAGED ON BOLL WEEVIL

Experiments are now being made in south Georgia by the chemical warfare service of the war depart-ment in killing the boll weevil with a modified form of the gases used in the European war.

This department was organized in 1918 under Major General Sibert, in 1918 under Major General Sibert, upon his retirement, and was succeeded by General Amos Fries. At the request of Charles J. Haden made to the department in the early part of the year, General Sibert made some preliminary investigations which were followed up by his successor who determined to push the inquiries further. In the early part of August the department sent Dr. W. V. Jenrette, a skilled chemist from the laboratory of the department, to Georgia, and he has been testing the effect of gases on the weevil on the plantation of Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Brown, near Baxley, and other points. her points. The manufacture and application of these gases is a military secret and no one other than those engaged in the army service is permitted to handle it. The results of the experiments will not be made known to any one except to the department in Washington at the close of the season.

Senator Tells Rail Workers That Their Interests ernment policy in dealing with Are Safeguarded by the Esch-Cummins Act.

Marion, Ohio, September 13 .- Reaffirming his support of the Cummins-Esch act restoring the rail-track us" and "Safety first; elect Harding."

J. W. Roseberry, past president of the local unit of the Order of Railway Trainmen, presented the dele-gation to Senator Harding and told the fallacy of "the impression that support of the Cummins-Esch act."

Considerate Legislation. Conceding that the act "was no perfect," Senator Harding characerized it as the "most considerate iece of legislation ever enacted in the protection of any group of workmen in the United States."

"When the world war came on," strain put upon it for war service, the country was apprehensive and we were all deeply concerned in putting everything that we possessed at the command of the government for the winning of the war, with such a feeling manifest throughout the country the railroads were taken quer for the war. Undoubtedly, there was back of the movement the insistent forces in our country who believe in government confers the explication of their theories of the way workmen ought to be employed the employed of the employed way workmen ought to be employed. ment cwnership of rallways. War seemed to offer the opportunity for the application of their theories of government, and I sometimes suspect the taking over of the railways was more impelled by the thought of modifying our government policy than the developing of a better service for the conduct of the war. "This suggestion was later on confirmed by the insistence of those administration leaders that they be given authority to take over the telephone and telegraph lines. When congress voted a grant of authority to take over the telephone and telegraph lines it was expressly stipulated that no such seizure would be made unless the exigencies of war urgently required it, but after the authority was given without a new exigency having arisen and without a single new condition of peril, the telephone and telegraph lines were seized because an administration was in power which was disposed take advantage of the anxieties of people, while involved in war, to completely revolutionize our govthese public utilities. "If the experiment with the railroads and these communication lines had been successful it reasonably may be assumed the policy would have been made permanent. Such was the undoubted intent of the present administration.

affirming his support of the Cummins-Esch act restoring the railroads to their owners, Senator Harding charged in a speech to a delegation of railway workers here late today that by assuming control of the roads all the Wilson administration had sought to promote a policy based on permanent government operation.

Had the experiment proved a success, the republican nominee declared, the administration would have favored retention of the transportation lines and other public utilities under government control. The war, he said, had offered an option of the province of the government to mainted failure of the government to mainted failure of the government to maintain the No Guarantee of Dividends.

portation lines and other public utilities under government control. The war, he said, had offered an opportunity to try out the scheme only because it permitted administration officials "to take advantage of the anxieties of the people" in asking authority to take over the properties.

The senator also assailed as "socialistic" and "revolutionary" the plan supported by some labor leaders to put the railways at the disposal of the railway workers. The Cummins-Esch bill, he said, was the best measure congress could work out in the time allotted and gave to both owners and employees a just guarantee of rights.

Several hundred unlon men composing the Harding and Coolidge Railway Club of Marion were in the delegation and they cheered the nominee as he hit at class rule and lauded the labor provisions of the act.

They carried banners expressing their support in such inscriptions as "The government must change conductors," "Harding will not sidetrack us" and "Safety first; elect "For ward of the school of the sch railway genius and talent may continue to appeal for the approval of their constituency and the American people generally.

"Naturally, this enactment did not appeal to those radical advocates of railway ownership or those socialistic theorists who thought the railways ought to be seized by the government and placed at the disposal of the railway workers for permanent operation anad profit. Congress felt an abiding obligation to restore "When the world war came on," he continued, "we had gone so far in restriction and regulation that the government's response to much of the railway baiting made it difficult for the railway management to keep pace with the expanding requirements of the country. It is not important to discuss now whether the railway service was breaking down under the great strain put upon it for war service, the country was apprehensive and

The work of the school, according to a statement issued by Lieutenant B. C. Getsinger, of the Southern Commercial congress, executive director of the school, will embrace four major divisions: selling, paper work, Pan-American commerce and language instruction.

The course in selling is to be taken up step by step almost as a sales campaign might be worked out by a manufacturer planning to seek foreign trade. Considerable thought will be given to a general survey of sales problems abroad and an intensive study of the market. This will be followed by a study of direct sales problems, the various channels of contact with the market, such as the export middle man, agents, agencies and salesmen; correspondence, catalogs and advertising; export combinations; a contrast of markets for American goods; factors affecting marketing of American goods; miscellaneous sales factors; terms of navment; terms of delivery; tendencies in economic reconstruction, and various export aids of value.

The paper work will comprise lectures and practice covering the different steps in four actual export transactions, with the proper use of papers and documents, including the following subjects: The inquiry, the quotation, the "firm" order, the purchase order, shipping order, shipping procedure, ocean bills of lading, marine insurance, consular invoice, the financial papers and practice upon papers for complete transactions.

Language instruction will be thoroughly practical and fit the student with a sound working knowledge of Spanish.

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' Finally he said, in a voice so dry that it seemed to crackle:

"This is—amazing. I understood that the family had cast out and utterly disowned the family of Harry Quest—m-m-m'yes, turned him out completely—bim and his. So you will pardon my surprise, Cleland.

Is—ah—the Quest fortune—as it were—considerable?"

"Several millions, I believe," replied Cleland carelessly, moving away to rejoin his son and Stephanie, where they stood amid the noisy, laughing knot of school boys.

Grismer looked after him, and his face, which had become drawn, grew almost ghastly. So this was it! Clefland had fooled him. Cleland, with previous knowledge of what this aunt was going to do for the child, had cunningly selected her for adoption—doubless designed her, ultimately, for his son. Cleland had known this; had kept the knowledge from him. And that was the reason for all this philanthropy. Presently he summoned his son. Oswald, with a fierce gesture of his hooked forefinger.

After the gates were opened, and when at last the school boys had departed and the train was gone, Stephanie remained tragically precocupied with her personal loss in the departure of Cieland Junior. For he was the first boy she had ever known; and she worshipped him with all the long-pent ardour of a lonely heart.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1820. Afternoon Reception Opens

Frills and a little frivolity marked the first coming together of the de the first coming together of the members of the Atlanta Woman's club for the year 1926-21,

A reception yesterday afternoon was the first event on the club's calendar, but while the occasion was entirely social, to outward seeming, yet it proved that reminiscences of summer trips just over, or hot weather solourns among the comforts of home, soon gave way to conversations of more serious turn, and "Mrs. Smith's curb market work," "Mrs. Jones' Tallulah Falls school plans," "Mrs. Brown's child welfare program," Mrs. Green's thrift schemes, and the like, were the phases that most often floated out to a mere onlooker upon the pretty scene of well dressed women chatting over the tea cups.

The feminine love for flowers and the desire of the woman of culture, of heart, to make the things around her beautiful, had prompted even a more elaborate decoration of the club house than is usual for its social gatherings (and there is always appropriate use of flowers ers even at the regular meetings). The autumn foliage with the brightest of the September blooms; zinniss, asters, golden rod, golden glow and hydrangeas, gave of their yellow, lavenders, pink and white to the attractiveness of the setting. YOU WOULD PAY FOR FURS PURCHASED AT THE MARKET TODAY, and in many cases the prices represent a great deal larger saving.

We have received a shipment of FURS which were ordered last February and which should have been here for the August Fur Sale. We are offering these Furs at the same price reductions we intended mering them in August, and we wish to state again that FURS CANNOT. BE PUR-CHASED TODAY FOR ANYTHING LIKE THE PRICE WE PAID FOR THESE.

In May the furriers of New York went on strike and they have been on strike ever since.

The FURS we announce the arrival of were made up from pelts we purchased, by independent workers and under great difficulties. It is necessary today, if a manufacturer has an order he MUST fill, to send the fur to half a dozen different people scattered over perhaps twenty-five miles of territory, and, since FURS are more valuable than ever right now, guards are sent with each consignment. You will realize that this is a very expensive, slow proposition, and, too, you will realize how impossible it would be under such circumstances, for FURS to be as low in price as they were when we made our contracts with the manufacturers and purchased our pelts to be made up.

We do not believe that you will find as comprehensive a selection of FURS elsewhere in the South. Nor do we believe you can purchase FURS of this quality elsewhere for a third more than we ask.

We do not show substitutes or imitations of any sort. Every piece of FUR you purchase from us is genuine, and exactly what we represent it to be. Also, we do not misrepresent conditions to you, but tell you frankly exactly what is happening in the manufacturing centers, so that you can judge for yourself whether or not NOW is the time to purchase.

OUR SCHOOLS.

The beginning of a new school year brings to mind throughout the nation two relative matters that are uppermost in the public mind.

First, the lack of properly equipped teachers, due to war cent enactments for the farming conditions that absorbed in other lines of endeavor thousands of men and women trained to the school room, who have not returned to their former profession.

Second, the generally poor teacher pay, under existing living conditions, which necessarily has brought to the school room an inferiority of talent that is keenly felt in the efficiency of common school training.

Georgia is more fortunate in these matters than most states, due to the program of progressive educational legislation enacted by the 1919 assembly; and the practical tendency toward school centralization-that is the elimination of the one-teacher, one-room rural school, with crude facilities and a low curriculum, for a co-ordinated system of higher schools, with better trained teachers, and with fixed standards.

And yet Georgia is still lacking in that degree of common school efficiency that it is hoped will develop in time from the revitalization program that Mr. Brittain has

In this connection there is no better illustration of what can be accomplished for the common schools of a state than the Ohio system, under the executive direction of Governor Cox. And it is his great record as an educational governor that is standing him in so well in his campaign for the presidency today.

In Ohio the salaries of teachers for the last six years have been advanced from a minimum of $40 a month to a statutory minimum of $800 a year, or $90 a month approximately for a nine months school-room service.

That is to say, the lowest paid teacher in the rural sections, with only an elementary or strictly primary department to serve is now one with sufficient ability to command a minimum salary of $90 a month From that have the scale works upward until the profession as a whole offers not only good remuneration, but is attractive enough in all its details to command men and women of high culture, and fitting moral and social characteristics to teach and to influence, by precept and example, the boys and girls whose brains are not only being developed but whose characters are being formed.

Statistics develop that in Ohio 95 per cent of the teachers in elementary grades have had profeslonal training; and high school teachers are required to be college graduates, or have equivalent

Standard methods of presentation are being practiced in an effort to give each child an opportunity for development of his possibilities, and the most comfaults of class room instruction have thus been eliminated.

What is necessary in Georgia, as in every other state, is a stimulation of public school sentiment-a loser co-operation or correlation of the school and the home.

COX AND THE FARMERS. Shortly after the two major parties had nominated their candidates for the presidency the national board of farm organizations addressed questionaires to both Governor Cox and Senator Harding as to their individual positions regarding contemplated farm legislation.

The two candidates were subsequently visited by committees representing farm organizations, were discussed with them at first these texts: hand.

On the committee to visit Gov ernor Cox was Secretary Flemming of the Georgia State Farmers' union.

Mr. Fleming has just returned and he is satisfied that Governor Cox's views on farm legislation, independent of the very extensive and satisfactory program outlined in the democratic national platform, will be pleasing to the great agricultural interests generally. and that the democratic nominee, outside of the agricultural south, will receive an enormous farm vote.

This is to be expected, in view of the record made by the existing democratic administration in the interest of the farming inter-

One of the most important acts was the federal farm loan, which lifted old burdens of debt from thousands of families. Under its provision twelve federal land banks and numerous joint stock land banks are in operation, with the result that interest rates have declined from 25 per cent in some cases to 51/2 per cent, with mortgages extending up to thirty-five years. Another piece of beneficial legislation was the provision in the federal reserve act authorizing national banks to lend money on farm mortgages and giving the Land," qualifies with this; farmer's paper a maturity of six

The warehouse act has standardized storage and marketing by providing for licensing of bonded warehouses and making possible the issuance of reliable and easily negotiable warehouse receipts, as well as permitting better storage of farm products.

Another evidence of farm prosperity is noted in The Chicago News, which says that farmers who used to complain becaus their stock ate so much 50-cent corn now grumble because their eight-cylinder cars consume much 23-cent gasoline.

The democratic candidate for vice rience in the practice of law w president is one of the most pic- with the firm of Carter, Ledyard & eye today. To begin with there is something electrifying about the name "Roosevelt." The late president had a personal hold upon people, irrespective of party, seldor reached by any man in public life. His alertness and his mental, as well as physical energy, had a great deal to do with it. But perhaps the real factor was a democracy that was natural and not assumed It was my pleasure to know Theodore Roosevelt well. Two or three times during the war I reminded Franklin D., in his offices in the war and navy building, of the similarity in personal characteristics between himself and Theodore, and it pleased him, of course, for not alone is the vice presidential candidate a relative of

> Soon after he began the practice of law Mr. Roosevelt was nominated for the New York state senate, in the district which includes Dutchess county. Much to the surprise of the political machinery of both parties, he was elected, and at the close of his first term was reelected by the largest majority ever recorded in that section of the country. During his first term in the senate by his resourceful tactics he saved from defeat the bill limiting the working hours of women and children. Powerful interests were at work to prevent the passage of the measure and although it had been passed by the assembly, it was scheduled to be throttled in the senate. On the last night of the session, just before adjournment, Mr. Roosevelt had it called up. Several senators who favored the bill, but believed its passage hopeless, had left homes. Summoning them by messenger back to the chamber, Mr. ry tactics of the lobbyists held the floor until their return. Their votes carried the bill.

His term in the senate had still one year to run when he was called to the post of assistant secretary of the navy. He resigned his sent in the New York senate on March 17, 1913, and on the same day assumed his new duties in Washington. Almost from the first Mr. Roose velt made preparedness of the navy his concern, appeaing first for an increased navy, and by his public utterances explaining the inadequacy of our sea force as a fighting unit in the event of war. Within a few months after taking up his position in Washington he had asked for a complementary navy of 18,000

The relations of the navy department with its employees in the navy yards and stations came particularly under his jurisdiction. He established the rule that no complaint should be denied the right to lay his case before the assistant secretary. His fair dealing with la bor in the department led the "Federal Machinist," an official labor organization, in commenting on his nomination to the vice presidency, to say "that no other assistant secretary of the navy had ever gained as great a measure of respect from the workers and their representatives than had Mr. Roosevelt." Fighting End of Service.

On the entrance of this country into the world war, Mr. Roosevelt made every effort to obtain a commission in the United States navy. He wanted to get across to see the big guns in operation, to take an active parts in the fighting. It was d like to know your reasons for him in official circles that he gave up the ambition. But he did eventually go abroad and it was through Dr. Eliot spellbound. Then admira- this trip that the strategic maneuvers of the ship convoy system were so greatly improved.

His voyage overseas was made on board one of the United States destroyers acting as convoy to a numcan troops to the fighting zone, and gave him ample opportunity for observation of the convoy system. He remained abroad three months, making an exhaustive investigation of our navy in foreign waters, and front. On his return he made certain recommendations on the convoy system which when carried out materially benefited the entire naval organization. Franklin' Roosevelt can drive allost any kind of naval craft, nor has his seamanship knowledge been gained through the text book at his desk in Washington. For years he has been a follower of the sea. He holds a pilot's license, enabling him to put into any port along the coast, and handles a boat as well as any man in the navy.

Once when he was aboard a destroyer the course took the ship through the narrows. The commanding officer, believing that it would be unwise to bring the boat through, voiced his fears to the assistant secretary. Mr. Ro insisted that the trip could be made vithout mishap and threatened to guide the destroyer through to its destination should the officer show further hesitancy. The boat went through. Each of Mr. Roosevelt's children is as fond of the water as is the father. Each owns a sailboat—a ministure of the cup defender, which "dad" carved out of single logs of wood, boats that when put to sea have proven the skill of the nechanic. My youngsters used to go to "the Crew street school," and maybe yours went to "the Marietta school"-and neither yours nor mine, now grown-ups, can refer with very much pride or enthusiasm to their prep-parents. In many of the cities that I visit I find practically all of their schools dignified by being named for local, state, national or universal celebrities, and the historic value of such designations is reflected in the selfavident pride with which almost any of the pupils will tell you the name of the school he or she is at-You will find in those cities schools are named for Washington.

Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Frank lin, Hamilton and John Marshall others for Longfellow, Whittier, Wendell Phillips, Sumner, Webster, Lincoln, Grant and McKinley, and so on, according to locality, the names over the school entrances are suggestive of famous contributors to the literature, science statesmanship and education of the state and nation.

How appropriate it would be to rechristen the public schools of Atlanta with names dear to Georgians I need not enlarge upon. An easily recalled roster of names adapted for such use would give us Oglethorpe, James Jackson, Crawford, Berrien, Troup, Howell Cobb. Robert Toombs, Stephens, Ben Hill, Lamar. Gordon, Sidney Lanier, Henry Grady, "Uncle Remus" and others not less worthy to be thus honoras bly employed.

Fulton county has already adopted this system, among the first names for the schools of the city, and give this added stimulus to the pupils to study the characters and services of the man whose patronymic will be always ass with their training?

And with champagne what it is and Japanese valets growing haughtler every day the outlook is something terrible. Although the New York bachelor apartments are exclusive and the best of references are required, the tenant is permitted more privileges than in the ordinary high-class apartment. One bachelor expressed it by remarking that while his apartment was superbly ultra, the landlord was kind and permitted guests to smoke opium in the elevators, but had warned all that murder was not allowed in the halls. In other bachelor house areas over town rents are volplaning.

A modest two-room apartment and bath rents for $4,000 yearly. But only the bachelor book worm takes such cramped quarters. Most of them take a flock of rooms, make them sound-proof and live happliy ever after.

In one buchelor house on Madison avenue there are fifteen tenants. The other night they were having a friendly game of draw. The subject of incomes came up—all were remittance men. They agreed to put down the annual amounts recived on blank strips of paper and deposit them in a hat. Afterward they were totaled. The sum was more than two millions. Only two had ever done a day's work.

I set them to thinking. A gift they rarely indulged. Each decided in some way to share their riches among the less fortunate. The first year, with champagne what it is

An old gentleman, with a wry outlook upon the world, was stepped upon twice by a pretty young girl who looked like an office worker. "Get off my foot! Can't you see?" he shouted. She smited with tired resignation. The old gentleman looked at her for several moments, took off his hat and soon they were waiking along together. And at the station he stopped and bought her a flower from a vender.

GRIDIRON

Chency Is "Ace."

Larry Chency, the same one we used to follow in the hews of the day when he was pitching for the Chicago Cubs, is the "ace" of the Comers' hurling corps, and his string is enough to show that he's spent most of the year mowing 'em down in the Sally. Larry's record shows 23 games won, with only nine defeats on the other side. This isn't bad at all, and the Crackers might have a terrible job in making Chency go down for a single count. The series is a "return" engagement, the pennant-winning Frankmen of last year having paid a very profitable visit to the stronghold of the Comers at the conclusion of the 1919 season. The Columbia outfit was one of the best in the minors at that time, and succeeded in winning three of the five games played.

Boys "Put Through."

Monday afternoon was the first time since practice got under way, that Coach Elicok has taken off the brakes and put the boys through. Monday's workout was a stiff one, with two squads on the field, both seemingly anxious to go the pace set by Coach 'Jogger,' and Frank Anderson. Coach Jogger B. is author of the statement that from now until the first game the Petrels take part in, they will be worked hard.

It is rumored around the university that Bob Nicholls, who played right tackle last year and who was a member of the senior class, is coming back to his alma mater to take a post-graduate course and incidentally to play football. Bob has played on every gridiron team that has gone out to battle for Oglethorpe, and it is hoped that he will return.

Showing Up Well.

Hugh Turner and Wayne Johnson the former regular of the 1919 eleven and the latter a sub, are both showing up well in their work and are counting on giving some of the new fellows a hard run for a place Hugh Starred at left halfback last season and aspires to the same position for the coming season. Johnson got in a few games last year and present indications are that this year his name will appear on the roster of the varsity squad.

New Men to Fight. New Men to Fight.

New Men to Fight.

Several of the new men are showing up well and promise to give some of the old-timers a big fight for their places. Coach Jogger B. is not particular whether or not his players are freshmen or upper classmen, all he asks is that they deliver the goods and they'll have a berth on the team.

One of the most promising candidates among the new comers is Chester David. He is going great guns and at times is entrusted with a squad by the coach. David halls from Locust grove, the home of "Daddy" Price, manager of the varsity, and he but in time on the gridiren of Locust Grove institute, in addition to playing on an army team of college and professional stars, while he was serving at Camp Hancock. Some of the regular visitors at practice stated this afternoon that in their opinion David will get a place.

Eight or nine candidates are yet expected to put in their appearance and after a week or two of hard work it is thought that the tentative varsity squad will be announced.

The "Old Men."

The "Old Men."

Among the old men trying out for the team are Knox, Cooper, Turner. Moore, Morrison, Morgan, Bussey and Johnson.

The new candidates are Dayld, Bryant, Parr, Tuez, Thaxton, Boswell, Adams, Stephens, Whitehead, Varnedoe, Waddrop, Bartenfield, Caryabelle and others who are expected any day.

Now a word or two about the Petrels' schedule, which appears at the top of this column. One thing that can be said of it is that it is The "Old Men."

Dodgers Pulling Away In National, But Race Continues in American

New York, September 13.—The Brooklyn team of the National league, by its double victory over the Chicago Cubs today, increased its lead in the pennant race to five full games over Cincinnati and New York. The Giants defeated St. Louis and Cincinnati dropped a game to Philadelphia, these results placing the two teams tied so far as games are concerned, but giving the world's champs an advantage of two percentage points over McGraw's men. The five-game lead of the Superbas gives them an advantage of 32 points over the Reda and 34 points over the Giants.

All three leaders in the American league won their games today, so there is no change in the relative positions. The anomaly continues of the New York Yankees leading Cleveland by half a game, but trailing the Indians by one percentage point. Cleveland and New York each gained 2 points by their victories over Philadelphia and Detroit, respectively, while Chicago added 3 points by defeating Washington and thus crept up a point on the two leaders.

Brooklyn has not yet clinched the pénnant in the National league, record Monday crowd.

The First Game.

The first game of the season with Dahlonega has been arranged merely as a practice contest, in order that Elcock may have a chance to see how his charges look under fire. Then comes the day that will be marked down as a banner one in the athletic history of Oglethorpe, October 2, when the Petrels journey out to Grant field to face the Golden Tornado.

In and around Atlanta a good deal of talk is going the rounds of the sporting circles in regard to that game. Out on Peachtres road, where Elcock is training his men for the encounter, there is not much talk of the great battle. But by the quiet manner in which the Petrels go about their training and by the way they put their souls and bodies into the work, you will be safe in saying that the night of the 2d the Tech Tornado and its supporters may say "who'd a' thought it." But no matter how the score stands when the game is completed all who witness it will know that the stormy Petrels have done their best.

FEDS' BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the Commodore Feds which was held Monday afternoon at the close of the Agoga-Commodore Fed game was one of the biggest treats ever given basepall clubs in Atlanta. The banquet was given in honor of the Commodore Feds' 1920 baseball club by the warden of the prison, Fred G. Zerbst, with the Agoga baseball club as guests.

The banquet was given in the main dining room and big eats were consumed while the prison orchestra furnished music.

Selections were furnished by Edward Cooper, leader of the orchestra; Jimmy Valentine, Eddle Burke, Thomas Mund and Arthur Williams.

By defeating the Commodore Feds Monday afternoon the Agogas won the 1920 City league championship and their tenth pennant in amateur circles since 1911. The game end-ed yesterday with the score of 6 to 2 and was one of the best amateur games ever witnessed in Atlanta. Burton, star hurler for the Feds started the game, but was driven to the showers in the fifth inning aft-tr the Agogas had scored four runs. Cochran finished the game and Cochran finished the game and pitched well.

Liddell hurled masterly ball for the winners throughout the entire game and was never in danger. Three clean and two scratch hits were all that could be made off his delivery and both runs in the ninth inning were scored on an error.

Vandegrift's home run in the fourth inning was one of the longest hits ever seen on the prison diamond. R. Smith and W. Smith starred for the winners in the field, while the fielding of Donnelly for the Feds was good.

and will do their best to make the 1921 season a better year than 1920.

The winners in each league are as follows: City league, Agogas; Bankers' league, Atlanta National; Automobile league, White company; Jobbers' league, American Raliway and Express company; Spalding league, Imman Yards, and the Fulton league, Swift & Co.

The city championship series will be played off on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Two games will be played Thursday and Friday, while a single game will be pulled off on Saturday. Both double-headers, will begin promptly at 2 o'clock, according to an announcement made public last night by Jack Wilson, president of the baseball leagues in Atlanta.

The All-Stars, a team picked by Mr. Wilson, will meet the Atlanta Crackers in a series of games commencing next Sunday. The first game will be played on the Fort MoPherson diamond, while the rest of the series will be staged at Ponce de Leon. The proceeds will go to the players of the two teams. It is our opinion that the Crackers will have to go some if they turn down this All-Star team, for there are several players now pastiming in the amateur leagues who would make some Southern league managers valuable workers and we would not be surprised to see several of these players that will go up against the Crackers next week in Southern league uniforms when the curtain goes up for the first act of the 1921 show.

This is a good chance for the Atlanta fans of the national pastime to show their appreciation to the Atlanta players by turning out in large numbers next week.

Players of Swift And Company Win In Fulton League

The Swift & Co. team defeated The Swift & Co. team defeated the Carter Electric nine yesterday afternoon on the Fort McPherson diamond in a beautiful pitchers battle by the score of 4 to 2. Shane, Swift's star hurler, was on the mound for the lardmakers, and pitched great ball allowing only six well scattered hits and sending seven of the electricians back to their bench after swinging desperately at his benders. Montgomery, Ala., September 13. Organization and co-operation between the growers, with collective marketing, were urged as a means of stabilizing the price of peanuts in the face of falling prices and adverse exchange rates, by Senator Oscar W. Underwood in an address to the convention of the United Peanut Association of America this afternoon.

The senator discouraged the idea of seeking protective tariff for the peanut and peanut by-products industry, asserting that present conditions confronting it were the natural result of war, which would gradually adjust themselves. He candidly told his audience that such readjustment always affected the producer of the raw material first, and it was his opinion that great difficulty would be experienced, in securing a tariff on the single industry which, after all, was interrelated with all others of the country.

With nearly 150 producers, representatives of cleaners, crushers and brokers attending, the convention was organized at 10 o'clock today with President P. D. Bain in the chair, Senator-Designate J. Thomas Hefflin, of Alabama, being the principal speaker of the morning, who, in the course of his address, congratulated the peanut growers of the south for the remarkable output that had met their efforts when they adopted this crop after the ravages of the boil weavil had seriously impaired their finances.

Following Senator Underwood this afternoon, Judge John R. Tyson, nomines-elect for congress from the second Alabama district, spoke, pledging his best efforts to securing legislation, if it was found necessary, that would insure the peanut grower a fair margin of profit on his labor. W. W. Webb, of the Georgia Peanut Growers' association, was the last speaker, who reviewed the work of that organization and his efforts in conjunction with others in securing national legislation for the benefit of the farmers.

Tuesday's sessions will be taken up with shaping a policy for the national association.

to please the big crowds that are attending this popular vaudeville house.

The star attraction, judging by the enthusiasm of the audience, is the Mann Trio, "The Jingo Boys," with rollicking songs and jazz dancing. This feature drew the biggest hand of the evening.

"My Dream Girl," a miniature musical comedy, the headliner, had plenty of good music and was not lacking in comedy. The playlet was prettily staged; the songs were new, and the voices were good.

Miss Estelle Sully, "The Black-Eyed Susan" of vaudeville, proved to be a popular favorite, Miss Sully singing several wood "ragtime" songs and presenting some new dances. This was the extra feature of the bill.

Way Daiton and Jane Craig in "Aladdin's Lamp," was as beautiful as it was novel. This act was filled with comedy and good music and merited the applause it received.

The De Peron Trio worked wonders of balancing and strength, and presented many new features not usually shown in these familiar vaudeville acts.

Paramo, who is booked as a whole orchestra by himself, came near justifying the term, demonstrating his ability to play on many instruments.

Loew Vaudeville. Cat the Grand.)

Picking out the offering that registered the heaviest hit on the opening bill of the week at Loew's. Grand would be an almost hopeless task, yet it might not be out of place to give early mention to the refreshingly original jumple of nonsense presented by Al. Lester and company. This aggregation, headed by a natural comedian and a stunning heroine, put over a cyclonic barrage of laughable notions that maintain a mile-a-minute gait to the ultimate second.

In the same breath, so far as popular approval figures, ought to come DeMott and Robinson, one of them a highly talented midget, the other an accompanist and plano soloist far above the ordinary. The diminutive member of the team is as agile, with his feet as he is with his tongue.

aiminutive member of the team is as agile with his feet as he is with his tongue.

Toward the middle of the program is one of the speediest demonstrations of twentiath century juzz' that has so far brightened things up hereabouts. The act is billed as the Rathburn Four, and its personnel of three maculine and one feminine instrumentalist, have evolved a masterpiece of classic harmony, spirited melody and modern syncopation.

Numerous sharp-shooting acts have played Atlanta, but probably none of them have approached in class, dexterity, action and allround showmanship the hair-raising exhibition engineered by the Georgialis Trio. Opening the show are Robert and Demont, whose dancing and singing range through the acrobatic, the eccentric and the artistic, putting everybody in a good humor.

Tom Mix.

Tom Mix.

(At the Btrand.)

Tom Mix. known throughout the motion picture world as the "daredevil of the screen." has added to his popularity by his fine work in "The Terror." which opened a week's engagement at the Strand on Monday. This is Mr. Mix's very latest picture and will undoubtedly prove as big a success as any western thriller he has ever played.

Mix appears as Bat Carson, a deputy United States marshal who is commissioned to investigate leakages in shipments of gold from the Sonora mines. In executing this commission Carson is called upon to display all the skill and daring at his command. He succeeds in locating the gold thieves after several terrific pistol battles, and then a romantic touch comes in his winning the beautiful sister of one of the bandits' tools—a young man who has been exonerated of all compileity in the crimes.

Wallace Reid.

Wallace Reid.

Another breezy automobile romance serves as the latest starring vehicle for Wallace Reld, this time it's "What's Your Hurry," a fast moving story of automobile trucks. Starting out as a professional racing pilot, "Wally" shifts to motor trucks when the father of a certain muchly desired girl makes it clear to him that he does not desire a speedster as a son-in-law. As a publicity man for trucks, "Wally" proves a sad and dismal failure; in fact, about the most noticeable thing about him is his in-ability to gain the attention of the city editors.

After numerous adventures, all of which are intensity entertaining a big dam breaks and endangers the lives of thousands who live in the valley. By mobilizing a big fleet of motor trucks and leading them to the scene of danger, he is able to save the dam, and incidentally win the high regard of "the old man," which carries with it the hand of the girl, and everything ends happily, as it should in every satisfying love story, whether told in pictures upon the screen or not.

"Homespun Folks."

(At the Criterion.)

"Homespun Folks," a picture of the "Way Down East" variety, from the studio of Thomas H. Ince, is the attraction for the current week at the Criterion theater, It is a type of play, no matter whether spoken or screened, that always carries a strong appeal. However blase one becomes, there is hidden within us a spring of sentiment which is tapped by scenes from down on the farm. No matter whether one has lived on a farm or not the atmosphere is appealing.

Thomas Ince has handled the story in admirable fashion. The full dramatic, sentimental and emotional quality of the plot admirable fashion. The full dramatic, sentimental and emotional quality of the plot is brought out, much credit for this going to the excellent cast. Lloyd Hughes plays the hero in a straightforward, manly fashion. He has a fine presence and a simple, carnest manner, well suited to such a role. Good character sketches are provided by all Pilson as the editor and Willis Marks as the drunken foreman. Fine work is also done by Charles Hill Mailes as the unlovable father. In make-up and acting this is a circturesque and dominant characterization.

(At the Tudor.)

The gay life of Parla has been depicted with unsual realism in the latest Erich Von Strohelm production; "The Devil's Pass Key." which is being shown all this week at the Tudor theater. Von Strohelm has injected great realism into the production. The race scenes at the famous Grand Prix are exceptional, showing the horses in a close finish and giving views of the crowds of fashionably dressed men and women in the grandstands.

Sam DeGrass, who played the husband in Yon Strohelm's recent success, "Blind Husbands," has a similar part in "The Devil's Pass Key," that of an author living with his extravagant wife in Parls. She runs up a large bill at the shop of an unscrupilous modiste, who suggests that she get some rich admirer to pay her bills.

A young army officer helps the wife. The husband hears the story, but has no idea who the principles are. He makes it the subject of a play which is a great success. "Humoresque."

(At the Forsyth.)

"Humoresque," the season's great photoplay which broke the house record at the Rialto last week by playing to more than 30,000 paid admissions, is now at the Forsyth, where it has been moved for a three days' run.

Numberless film fans who saw the pleture last week are coming again this week, declaring that "Humoresque" is well worth seeing a record time.

"My wonder boy," cries Vera Gordon, and cuddles a large-cyed boy, to her bosom. From that very moment one's heart vibrates between the adoring mother and the big-eyed genius boy.

The boy plays upon the heart as his bow upon the strings of his violin. The mother raises one to heights of sympathetic joy and plunges one into depths of anguish. "Humoresque" is a work of the highest order of talent, perhaps genius, and it is interpreted by a superb' ability seldom equaled in pictures.

Fannie Hurst's greatest short story has assuredly made an ideal photoplay. Vera Gordon, one of the greatest of stage mothers, and Gaston Glass seem to have been born to play throbbingly human geniuses and have made her story live on the screen. The éry, "My wonder boy," hamns one. It follows you home. You hear it in the night watches, exuiting, appealing, praying, triumphing. "Humoresque" is a great picture.

Great reduction in the death rate among Georgia children is one of the most important results of the work of the Georgia Children's Home society, according to Dr. Allen Bunce, of Atlanta, examining physician for the society.

Dr. Bunce's statement is made in connection with the society's appeal for money with which to continue its work of finding good homes for the destitute children of Georgia, and to help pay for the receiving home recently purchased in Atlanta to replace the one burned last Christmas.

As examining physician for the society Dr. Bunce has come in close contact with hundreds of children turned over to the society because their parents were dead or were unable to support them. Many of these children were underhourished or suffering from various childish ailments, and all of them have been properly clothed and fed, given medical attention and then placed in)private homes, where the society sees that they have all the advantages necessary to their welfare.

Mr. Brittain also calls attention to the inability of normal schools and higher educational institutions to supply enough teachers to relieve the shortage which has confronted the state for the past several years, and states that beginning with the present school year a plan for teacher-training in the high schools will be arranged. "It's a very real fact that a large percentage of high school graduates now go into common schools to teach and their work would be more helpful if they had received some professional training," said the superintendent. "It is for this reason we are arranging for the training of teachers in our high schools." All high schools desiring to qualify for such classes must make application to the state superintendent. Mr. Brittain said, and each must be a four-year school, dily accredited. It is necessary for each to have a library, laboratory, home economics and physical training. There will be a uniform course for the classes, he continued, and provision must be made for practice teaching and observation. In addition to these requirements, Mr. Brittain stated, there will be a uniform course for the classes given during the fourth year of high school to occupy not less than one-fifth of the time, with extra work on nine Saturdays. The work of the classes will be supervised by the state department, which will also pass upon final examinations will be issued provisional licenses to teach in state schools for two years. Few Changes in Stocks; Both Sides Mark Time

Feeling Shown Regarding Future Business Outlook-New Stock Boom Expected. *

BY WALTER B. BROWN, Editor N. Y. Commercial.

(Written for the United News.) New York, September 13 .- The stock market had a very dull day today, with the changes in price levels generally unimportant. Busi ness was undoubtedly restricted to a considerable extent by the Jew-ish holiday, but there is also evi-dence of a disposition on the part of both the public and the profes-sional elements to mark time. Some ttempts were made to force prices f the steel stocks downward, but last Saturday's losses were retrieved. In the main, however, decilins prevailed among leaders of the industrial and special groups. Sales amounted to 335,000 shares.

Recent anomalous conditions in the market for foreign exchange continued, remittances to London, paris and other international centers record further declines. A new low rate of $3.45% for demand sterling was established in the course of the session.

Gold imports assimed more impossive dimension that success the follow pressive dimension. The French account, with a success the fifth of the course of the surrent movement approximates $30,000,000.

Domestic monetary conditions were the object of more than ordinary solitude because of the heavy payments to be made during the mid-week for federal income and the current movement approximates $30,000,000.

Domestic monetary conditions were the object of more than ordinary solitude because of the heavy payments to be made during the mid-week for federal income and the current movement approximates $30,000,000.

Domestic monetary conditions were the object of more than ordinary solitude because of the heavy payments to be made during the mid-week for federal income and excess profits taxes by many large industrial companies as well as individuals.

This prospective drain was without material effect on money rates, all of the day's call loans being reported.

The letidown in business, such as it really is, is psychological as to its form the feeling many instances is that the banks of many instances is that the banks of many instances is that the banks of ma isted to the extent generally supposed.

While commodity prices are not likely to return to their former inflated levels, it is quite possible there will be some recovery from recent declines, especially where stocks have been allowed to run low in the expectation of a declining market. In the course of time these stocks will have to be replenished, and if it should come about as is quite possible, that much of this buying should come simultaneously, prices would be likely to go up again.

Liberal Export Business Thought to Be Under Way-December Wheat $2.49 - Corn Up 1-2 to $1.40@1.41; No. 2 yellow $1.42@1.43\4. Oats 2 1-2 Cents.

Chicago, September 13.—Fresh upturns in the price of wheat today ccompanied buying on the part of houses with seaboard connections. The close was unsettled, 11/4 to 21/40 net higer, with December $2.49 to $2.49 %, and March $2.44. Corn gained ½ to 2½c; oats finished un-changed to ½coup, and provisions varying from 17c decline to 20c advance.

It was generally assumed from the character of the buying in the wheat pit that liberal export business was under ay. In this connection, a special incentive to purchase was pointed out-the comparative smallness of receipts here and on both sides of the Canadian boundary. Large clearances from Galveston, 2,115,000 bushels today, tended also to encourage bullish sentiment. Besides milling demand was reported good at all domestic centers. Selling appeared to consist chiefly of profit-taking and of hedging for the northwest. The sole bearish factor was weakness of sterling exchange.

A High Yield to Conform With Existing Money Rates

In the past few years hundreds of banks and trust companies throughout the United States and Canada have purchased approximately $100,000,000 of Continents Guaranty Short Term Obligations.

The same type of securities which has gained popularity among these conservative institutions is now offered at discounts netting the private investor a yield of 9% and 91/2% according to maturity.

These high yields are made possible by existing abnormal money rates and, security considered, we believe these notes to be the most attractive investment now available.

We shall be glad to fully explain these securities to you, or send a complete description by mail.

The continuance of good weather over the week-end and uneasiness concerning the threatened British coal miners' strike influenced cotton values to a lower level today, as did the further decline in foreign exchange. Returns to the National Ginners' association average the condition of cotton at 66 against 69 two weeks ago, which was less deterioration than generally expected, but returns to the American Cotton association indicate a semimonthly condition of 57 against 67 two weeks ago.

Tending to confirm advices of heavy deterioration since August 25 returns to The Memphis Commercial Appeal indicate that deterioration was in excess of normal since August 25 having been general, heaviest in Oklahoma and least in North Carolina and that the general condition of the crop is somewhat below the ten-year average for corresponding date. Boll weevil activity, excessive moisture and low temperature accounts for poor progress of crop for the past

The corn trade last week was comparatively slow, with scattered liquidation in September and a decline in cash prices to practically a delivery basis at one time and the close two and one-half cents over September. The movement for the week showed 630,000 bushels increase at the primary markets, but was 233,000 bushels below last year's and more than one million bushels under that of 1918. Sentiment is bearish, but little headway is being made in getting prices for the deferred futures below the level of previous weeks.

Jack Allen, alias George B. Swayne, arrested by Special Officers Young and Carter on charges of passing forged checks and obtaining goods and money under false pretenses, is wanted in Toronto, Ontario, on three warrants charging a similar offense, according to a telegram received Monday by Chief of Police James L. Beavers from H. J. Dickson, acting chief constable of Toronto. Allen was Friday held under a $5.000 bond when arraigned on a warrant issued in the municipal court of Atlanta. He is said to have engaged rooms and sample space at five well-known downtown hotels under the name of George B. Swayne for the purpose of furthering his scheme of getting forced checks cashed. When arrested more than $2.000 worth of certified bank checks, claimed by officers to be forgeries, were taken from his person.

Alleged Tigers on Trial. Harry A. Reeves, T. G. Bussey and Sidney Allen, three alleged violators of the prohibition amendment, will be arraigned before United States Commissioner W. C. Carter today. The three men were arrested last week by Federal Prohibition Agent W. G. Whitley and Detective Paul West, following an automobile chase which terminated at the southern junction of the Peachtrees. ball house arrangements were proceeding briskly for a second primary. During the day there were callers from all sections of the state, who dropped in for the purpose of assuring Mr. Walker of the prospects for his overwhelming success in the runover.

In addition to the callers a large number of optimistic messages poured in from all over the state. Following the announcement that supporters of the former junior senator are preparing to protest the results in Bartow and Decatur counties came the report that the friends of Mr. Walker will file protests in several counties owing to alleged irregularities.

Should the forces of the former attorney general win the several contests it is understood they will file, Hardwick's lead would be decreased by at least six county unit votes, and even should the latter win the Decatur and Bartow contests he would still lack the necessary number of unit votes to secure the nomination.

In this connection it is interesting to note that in the past ten years the taxable value of property in this county has more than doubled, as the figures show that in 1910 the values amounted to $5,752, as against $10,751,322. It is not believed that very many counties in the state will show such a phenomenal increase during the past two years, and a large proportion of the increase is assigned to automobiles. No Irregularities in Primary, According to Reliable Reports Received at Walker Headquarters.

From the headquarters of Clifford Walker, who ran second in the race for governor of Georgia, the statement was given out Monday that information received from unquestionably reliable sources shows that there were no irregularities in the election affecting the vote in Bartow county, as claimed by supporters of Thomas W. Hardwick, who, it is stated, are preparing to make a contest, particularly with reference to the Cartersville box.

"Information received from unquestionably reliable sources is that there were no irregularities in the election affecting the vote in Bartow county. The ballots are intact and show beyond the slightest question that Walker carried Bartow county," was the answer of the Walker headquarters.

No Fund Provided.

An interesting development in the unsettled contest for governor Monday was that while the Neill law requires a second primary, in the event no candidate receives a majority of the county unit votes, no provision is made for the expense of holding the second primary.

It seems, therefore, that the friends of the candidates receiving the highest votes must provide the necessary funds to meet the expense of a runover. In the opinion of Chairman Flynt, of the state committee there is no way to finance a runover except at the expense of the candidates, or unless their friends in every county will serve free as managers and clerks.

It is estimated that to hold a primary in each county in the regular manner will cost approximately $25,000. The fact was pointed out that the preferential primary cost about $15,000. but in that primary many counties held county primaries on the same day, which took care of the cost, and in a number of others only one box was opened, which reduced the cost.

Odd Features Mark Seizure of Industries by the Workers-Workmen Demand Convoking of Parliament.

Paris, September 13.-Travelers rriving today from Italy describe the seizure of the metal works by workmen as possessing odd features. Flagstaffs on the principal plants bear two flags-red for the socialists and black for the anarchists. Many private houses display red flags, especially in Milan, according to the reports.

Government troops guard the banks, but do not interfere with the occupation of the works. Transport workers allow no movement of gov-ernment troops from one part of Italy to another. The ministry of war at Rome recently endeavored to send some regiments to northern Italy, but the trainmen refused to move them.

The Italian government has in formed the manufacturers asso ciation that it does not wish to employ troops in clearing the factories, but that a far better course is formed the manufacturers' assofor the employers to negotiate compromise with the workmen's committee. The employers have agreed for the present not to go near their own works so as not to expose themselves to forcible ex clusion.

Two aged men, David Gideon, 75, and Willam H. Busteed, 72. pleaded guilty today when arraigned in the state supreme court, charged with maintaining a gambling house. Mrs. Cott-man will meet the local women at the Carnegie library and will deliver an address, in addition to giving them personal talks on voting. It is proposed to have men attend Mrs. Cottman's lecture, as well as women. The Anniston Equal Suffrage league has issued an invitation to women voters and is making plans for a large attendance at ing plans for a large attendance at the library Thursday evening. Because there is no one qualified to register them, Anniston women are not yet registering to vote, Registrar H. H.
